BIG ROAD MEETING AT LOUISVILLE

Movement to Take Great Forward Step in Kentucky.

A big meeting was called for Louisville Thursday of this week to further the movement for good roads in Kentucky. Delegations from every county in the State were sought. The occasion was Governor's day at the State Fair.

The object is to formulate plans by which more money will be raised for the State road fund, and to put such an organization behind it that the Legislature may be aided and caused to take definite action on a larger road program.

It is probable that the meeting will urge a bond issue of fifty millions for road purposes.

Mr. Ben Williamson, one of Eastern Kentucky's liveliest and most successful business men, is chairman of a district composed of several counties. He headed a large delegation from this district.

Lawrence county delegates who went are R. L. Vinson, Dr. T. D. Burgess, Augustus Snyder, F. H. Yates, Ed W. Kirk and M. F. Conley.

This is regarded as the largest movement ever started in Kentucky. There has been made a good start on road building in Kentucky, and the ice is sufficiently broken to make the time ripe for a great step forward. If Eastern Kentucky is to have proper standing in these matters we must take a lively interest all the way through. Our people must talk and work and co-operate in these movements.

Louisa's free schools opened last Monday with the largest attendance in their history.

The high school which serves the county and city pupils had 56 in attendance the first day, with others coming in later. WHAT DOES THE REAL FARMER LOOK LIKE, ANYHOW?

THE OLD CARTOONIST'S IDEA OF HIM

The city newspaper cartoonist likes to picture the farmer a chap with billowy whiskers and a corn-cob pipe.

But the new cartoonists are beginning to see that even if there ever were the extremes we used to see in the papers, there is a new farmer developing.

The new cartoonist has noticed that the new farmer has a good deal in him of the type of the alert business man of the growing cities. He may go around the farm in overalls just as a peppy city man goes about in short sleeves and old suit, but when he is away from the business, he is pretty up to date. Cartoonist Plumb herewith presents the old and new.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT ESTEP.

"Uncle Roll" is dead. We no longer behold that feeble form and hear that chattering voice at our Sunday school gatherings, but the old chariot wheel is still being rolled along by his followers, the most excellent Sunday school work which he established in Lawrence county has become a living issue. The wonderful gathering of the people at the children's day at Garrett chapel, Sunday, Sept. 11, 1921, was a striking evidence that the Sunday school work is moving onward. This children's day was a wonderful event, long to be remembered by the people that were there. The program was under the management of Dr. Hall and his faithful helpers. It was a fine selection and was carried out almost to a letter. Great credit is due to those who did the training. We would not forget the credit due the children who performed their parts in a most able manner. The whole matter moving along without the least friction. That made it a wonderful day for the people taken by the elderly people. They had in with the children of four years up to adults gray in years. The great success of the day was largely due to the active part taken by the whole neighborhood. I would not venture to go into special details as to how the program was carried out, as it would make my letter too long. I desire to mention only a few.

The gate of opportunity was opened by a small gate which was ad through and hung to the gate. This was a job and his twelve sons were fully illustrated from the time Joseph was sold into Egypt by his brothers up to the time Joseph made himself known to his brothers. He was enjoyed by all who were able to see it.

Among the last scenes was the oration of a motherless little girl, the manner in which she brought out the subject was so very touching that the whole house was flooded with tears. It is said "A little child should lead them." In closing I wish to say the program which showed great ability in selection was destined to teach the rising generation to lead the children in the ways they should go.

ASHLAND BOOSTERS MAKE A BIG HIT

The Ashland Boosters came, saw and conquered. They arrived at Louisa at 2:40 a. m. Wednesday, carried by the finest train that had ever traversed the Big Sandy valley—a long line of sleeping cars, an elegant diner, and a comfortable car.

They were met by an immense crowd of Louisa people, who gave them a rousing reception. The fine brass band carried by the boosters started the ball with some good music and a male quartette good enough for any occasion rendered an excellent number.

The crowd was assembled on the lawn and large porch at the Louisa Inn, alongside of the point where the train stopped. Mr. Fred M. Vinson then welcomed the visitors on behalf of the city. He did it with genuine enthusiasm and in well chosen words. Mr. B. F. Forgy then announced that Mr. J. W. M. Stewart had been asked by the boosters to speak for them. Being a loyal native of Louisa and one of whom we are all proud, the announcement was hailed with pleasure by the local people. Mr. Stewart made a very interesting address, covering history and hopes and predictions relating to the entire Big Sandy valley and especially Louisa and Ashland. Mr. Stewart's successful career has been noted with great satisfaction by the people of his old home town.

John E. Buckingham, another native Big Sandian, born just across the river from Louisa, followed with a strong address that caught the crowd. He has taken a place of leadership in Ashland alongside that of Mr. Stewart. Judge John F. Hager, and other Big Sandians who have adopted Ashland as their home.

There was more good music and then a great many of the boosters accepted an invitation to ride over our newly paved streets and see Louisa. Others walked through the business district and introduced themselves to the business men.

The end of the two hours allotted to Louisa came all too quickly and the party got aboard the train and proceeded on the way up Big Sandy. They will reach Ashland on their return trip early Friday morning.

One attached to the train, provided by Mrs. Alice Fetter, carried a number of ladies from Ashland.

Altogether it was a very fine affair and will do much to bring Ashland and the Big Sandy valley into closer touch. Louisa is glad they came and hopes to see them again and often.

Accidental Shot Fatal to Former Wayne Co. Boy

R. C. (Carl) McCoy, of Logan but formerly of Wayne, was fatally shot Saturday by his employer at the store of Lewis Furniture Co. McCoy died from the effects of the injury after three days. Funeral services were held at the home of his parents in Huntington Wednesday.

The shooting which resulted in McCoy's death was accidental. He and his employer were examining some new guns sent into Logan in connection with the recent labor trouble and left at the store of Lewis Furniture Co. The shot was fired from a gun which was thought not to be loaded. The bullet entered McCoy's abdomen, cutting a hole through his body from the right to left side. He was rushed to a Huntington hospital where it was determined that he could not survive. He regained consciousness and told of the shooting, saying that it was an accident.

McCoy was the son of George McCoy who was a jeweler in Wayne for many years. Carl went from Wayne to Logan some seven years ago. He was brakeman on the Guyan branch of the C. & O. for some time, leaving that work to become associated with the Lewis Furniture Co. as a traveling salesman. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, which order conducted the burial rites. He is survived by a wife, a sixteen months old baby, father, mother, two sisters and one brother.—Wayne County News.

Wayne Men Were Cattle Losers in Mine Trouble

The miners which raged in Boone and Logan counties recently damaged a Wayne county citizen to the extent of $2,000 in cattle and lumber supplies.

Lace Vinson and Tom Adkins of Fort Gay were engaged in a lumbering job in Boone county on Coal river. When the trouble started the mill was shut down. They left a bunch of cattle there and last week they sent Mont C. Atkins and son, Jack and Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Walter after them.

As Wellman was returning with the cattle and lumber wagons he was captured by the miners' army. He had previously hidden about $100 in cash among the chains, so when searched no money was found on him. He was held prisoner for a day or two then released through the influence of a miner who knew Wellman. He managed to slip and get his $100 but the miners kept the cattle and supplies valued at about $2,000.—Wayne County News.

Military Funeral For Fort Gay Hero

Washington, Sept. 14.—Clayde Lester, son of Paris Lester, of Fort Gay, Wayne-co., W. Va., was an alumnus of Marshall College, and president of his class, and a life of promise was opening to him when this country went to war against Germany. He was killed in the battle of the Argonne Forest; a member of the 80th Division.

His was one of the 8 bodies of soldiers interred with high military honors at Arlington, Sept. 8. The number of his grave is 3644. His body was among those which narrowly escaped cremation at the big pier fire in New York.

The West Virginia hero's father, Paris P. Lester, came to Washington to attend the funeral services over the remains of his son, and was accompanied to Arlington by Representative Wells Goodkykoon. There was a large gathering of relatives and friends at the 68 graves, a detachment of regular soldiers from Fort Myer with a band. The regulation military rites were performed, three chaplains officiating, two protestant clergymen, one representing the army, the other the navy, and a Catholic chaplain-priest. The band played "Nearer My God to Thee," the burial rites were read by the three ministers, each in his turn, a firing squad fired two volleys over the grave and taps were sounded. Flags were removed from the caskets and presented to relatives who requested them, as is the custom, and then the graves were closed.

Williams, wife of a well-known farmer on Route 6, this place. "I kept getting headaches and having to go to bed," continues Mrs. Williams describing the troubles from which she obtained relief through the use of Cardui. Later I suffered from weakness and weak back, and felt all run-down. I did not rest well at night, I was so nervous and cross. My husband said he would get me some Cardui, which he did. It strengthened me. I was in good healthy condition. I cannot say too much for it." Thousands of women have suffered as Mrs. Williams describes, until they found relief from the use of Cardui. Since it has helped so many, you should not hesitate to try Cardui if troubled with womanly ailments. For sale everywhere. E.83

TODAY.

It's not tomorrow counts for ought

Lying in the hereafter
Today alone is yours and mine

BLEVINS

"For None of Us Liveth to Himself, Rom. 14:7."
This part of scripture needs no comment as to its soundness. For it was fully expressed in actions today at the home of J. Dan Blevins when all the neighbors assembled themselves to grasp the hand of Mrs. J. D. Blevins, who has recently returned home from the hospital at Ashland, Ky., and enjoy themselves in her presence again, for her condition one month ago seemed hopeless indeed. But the Divine Providence has some cause or mission for her to fulfill before she goes to sleep in Jesus, as her speedy recovery from the very brooding clutches of angry death has borne witness to us that divine guidance played the role in this particular case.

It was 3 a. m. Sunday when the guests began to gather. Some on horseback, some walking and about the hour of 10 a. m. a large crowd had assembled, all seeming to be in the highest spirits manifested by the beautiful sunlight smiles that bouqueted their countenance as they grasped the hands of friends upon entrance and yet as they greeted dear Mrs. Blevins (to whom everyone seemed indebted for kindness she had shown and her absence seems to have called to their minds, through the dull misty channels of memory some good kind loving deed she had either bestowed on them or in their path) were made to shed tears of glad joy on taking her by the hand.

The brightness of the sun's ray seemed to be more bright than ever before as the ray trickled through the branches of the beautiful shade trees in the yard and fell softly upon the sun-beaten faces of those gathered together beneath the beautiful spruces in the yard, as they talked and reasoned upon the phenomena of the Bible which seemed to be the predominating subject of the day, except an occasional hint from some newcomer who cared to break the interest by intimating hard times was scowling the land. However, the time was well enjoyed until the guests were ordered to prepare for dinner and indeed the food was well prepared by Miss Juda Llimings and enjoyed by all and especially by those who come from a distant neighborhood.

After a long chat enjoyed by all, music was resorted to for refreshment and entertainment in the beautiful afternoon. The choir assembled at the organ, being made up of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Johnson, Mrs. Carson Blevins, Wade Blevins, Elihu Blevins and Dan Blevins and the music really animated the very atmosphere around it.

The hour of 4 p. m. had tolled and the heat of the noon day sun had vanished and given away to a more ameliorating breeze, brought about by a few misty clouds that soon passed over. Then one by one the guests began to break away, each bidding Mrs. Blevins God's speed with a truly encouraged hope of her speedy recovery, thus causing the writer to use the verse of scripture seldom practiced, "We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak. Rom. 15:1." In giving the description of the separation:

If we have any flowers to give
Let us bestow them while we live
For as a blossom fadeeth away
We likewise do perish in the clay.
WADE THOMPSON.

Opportunity's Appearance

Now is the best time to build the world has ever known; the country is far behind with its building, and at the pace it is going, it will take many years to get back to normal. The demand for housing facilities is greater than it has ever been before. Rent is so high that it ought to be an incentive to anyone to build a nice dwelling or business house to rent. If the country should double its production of houses, it would take ten years to catch up to the required number that should be built during the year.

Opportunity has no tall feathers and when it gets by, you can't catch it. We believe in the old adage: "Hit the iron while it is hot."

If you anticipate building, why not come in and let us show you what we have to offer. We handle an excellent line of Cement, Roofings, Paints, Builders' Hardware, Windows, Doors, Brick, Lumber of all grades, etc. We are also equipped to turn out practically any kind of millwork.

We feel that we can supply your needs at attractive prices.

SOMEWHERE.

B. Caroline Ripley Dorr.
How can I cease to pray for thee?
Somewhere
In God's great universe thou art today;
Can He not reach thee with His tender care?
Can He not hear me when for thee I pray?
Somewhere thou livest and hast need of Him;
Somewhere thy soul sees higher heights to climb;
And somewhere still there may be valleys dim.
That thou must pass to reach the hills sublime.
Then all the more because thou canst not hear,
Poor, human words of blessing, will I pray,
Oh! true, brave heart, God bless thee, wheresoe'er
In His great universe thou art today.

We hear a lot of croaking these days about the immorality of our youth, and one proof of this immorality, continually held before us, is the modern dancing. It is true that jazz music does not lend itself to sobriety in dancing, so if anything comes under censure, perhaps it is the music. However, the "jazzy" impulses of our present day young people, whether expressed in music, dance, or even in dress, is a result of the high-tension produced by the war. Already we see a tendency toward conservatism along along all these lines.

As proof of this, "The Last Waltz," a musical comedy, is drawing large crowds in New York in spite of the fact that there is not one jazz number in the entire repertoire. The music is high-class and very enjoyable, and proving to be as popular as the symphony of "The Follies."

Not much longer will the pessimists have cause to shake their heads and say, "I don't know what the young people are coming to."

We all know the story of Pollyanna and her doctrine of always being glad. We often hear people sneering at her saying, "She was too glad, just as Elsie Dinsmore was too good." Nevertheless, Pollyanna seems to have almost a monopoly on the right principle of living which opens the way to a short cut to happiness.

It is impossible to be either very bad or very mad when one is very glad. Also how much anxiety we would miss if we would not insist upon crossing our bridges before we reach them. Let this idea of being glad be your religion for a while, for after all cheerfulness is the normal atmosphere of every religion. We would all find that life would move for us much more smoothly if we could say with Browning, "God's in His Heaven. All's well with the world."

To be able to do cheerfully the distasteful tasks which each one of us must do is worth as much as to be able to discover a gold mine. If we could compute the number of times a cheerful disposition has made us in, or rather if we were able to trace the cause of all our illness and found how often a bad disposition most people would not believe our computations. For that reason a cheerful disposition is worth a gold mine.

Of course, it is easy to be cheerful when things are going your way. Anyone can wear a smile then. But at other times it is not so easy, queer that it isn't too because finding fault with things doesn't change them any. In fact the dose doesn't taste nearly as bitter if we take it with a smile. When a thing has to be done, and when no amount of grudging around about it will get us out of the task, why not do it cheerfully. Try this plan anyway and see how it works.

THAT MORN-ING LAMENESS

If you are lame every morning, and suffer urinary filth, there must be a cause. Often it's weak kidneys. To strengthen the weakened kidneys and avert more serious troubles, use Doan's Kidney Pills. You can rely on Louisa testimony.

M. Ferguson, plumber and painter, Louisa, says: "Some years ago my kidneys got in bad shape and I suffered much pain when passing the kidney secretions. There would be some sediment in the secretions, too. My back had a dull kind of pain in it and it was about all I could do of a morning to dress myself. I was so lame across my back. I have done much hard work in my time and followed the painting trade. I blame the smell of turpentine for the starting of my trouble. Finally, I got to reading about Doan's Kidney Pills, so I went to the Louisa Drug Store. Co. and got three boxes. I used them until my troubles left me. Doan's Kidney Pills toned up my system generally and I couldn't recommend a better remedy for kidney trouble than Doan's Kidney Pills." 60c. at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

WATER DISTURBS BEAUTY BEFORE CAMERA

Trying to photograph even a champion swimmer, through the water gets funny results -- as this picture proves. It was taken off Brighton Beach, Long Island, the other day, as the champion American swimmer was finishing in front. Her name is Miss Ethelita Blech, of New York. She is the champion woman swimmer of the world, having won her crown at the Olympic games in Antwerp last year. In the big race last week, she clipped 29 seconds off the old record, swimming the three and one-half miles in 56:27 minutes.

IN MEMORY

Rev. William Leaningham was born in the year of our Lord 1873, and died the 12th of August, 1921, aged about 48 years. Uncle Bill had been in ill health for several years and for a number of months he had been unable to do any work. He was a patient sufferer during his last illness. All was done by his family, brothers and friends that loving hands and willing hands could do, but God said, "You have fought a good fight, you have kept the faith, therefore there is a crown laid up for you," and uncle Bill has gone from us, from his loved ones, but he has gone to the land where the weary are at rest. He had been a preacher of the gospel for about nine years. He loved to meet and sing and pray with his brethren and sisters. I have seen him shout and praise God many times and we cannot doubt that his soul has gone to God. He left a wife and six children, four brothers and one sister and many friends to mourn his death. The church has lost a faithful member, his family a good husband and father, but our loss is Heaven's eternal gain. His body was laid to rest in the Leaningham graveyard where his father, mother, children and sisters are sleeping to await the sound of Gabriel's trumpet in the last day. You've crossed the chilly tide, Safe nestled in your Saviour's arms Over on the other side, Your troubles here are over, Your sorrows here are done, We'll meet you some sweet morning When our blessed Lord says come. A NIECE.

SCIENCE NOW TESTS BABE RUTH'S HOME RUNS

Why and how does Babe Ruth, the great ball player, make so many home runs? With electrical and other special apparatus, the scientists of Popular Science Monthly have been trying to find out. This copyrighted picture, which we print by special arrangement with Popular Science, shows the Babe swinging with the bat while the device is measuring the force and speed. The cross on his knee shows the height at which he hits the ball best. The test showed that Ruth's physical hitting efficiency is 90 per cent compared with the average man's 60. His eyes are 12 per cent faster than the average. His ears function 10 per cent faster. His bat swings at the rate of 110 feet a second. The scientists decided that the Babe would hit the ball even further if he didn't "hold his breath" quite so long—a fraction of a second shorter.

BUICK

Presenting The New Buick Four

The new Buick Four is a distinctively Buick creation in every feature of design and construction. It embodies those principles of construction that have characterized Buick automobiles for more than twenty years.

The engine is of the famed Buick Valve-in-Head type. The bore is 3 3/8"—the stroke, 4 1/4". Wheel base, 109", turning radius, 36'.

A Marvel carburetor with the new automatic heat control insures proper vaporization of the common low grade of commercial gasoline.

Multiple disc clutch, the transmission and universal joint are of standard Buick construction—the universal joint being lubricated from the transmission. The rear axle is the three-quarter floating type, with semi-elliptical type springs front and rear. The frame is a deep channel section, strongly reinforced with four cross members.

High pressure Alemite system provides lubrication. Delco equipment with Exide battery insures efficient starting, lighting and ignition.

All models have non-glare headlight lenses—all are complete with tire carrier and extra rim. Closed models are equipped with adjustable windshield visors, windshield cleaner, dome light, ventilating windshield, adjustable windows, and sun shade in rear window.

—WITH THESE—

Men's Two Trouser Suits

—AT—

Many months ago we laid the plans to make this the biggest season in our history. We realized that in order to accomplish this we had to do the unusual thing, give unusual values and set our quality standards extremely high.

When most merchants placed smaller Fall orders than usual, we offered to place orders for double our usual quantity with our manufacturers if they would work on half their ordinary profits. They agreed to do it. We pass the saving to you. In anticipation of selling double the number of suits we sold last year, we are working on an unusually small margin of profit.

We Pass That Saving On To You

THE RESULT IS—

Fine All-Wool Hand Tailored Two Trouser Suits at
